Hello Wilson, I thank you for allowing me to attend your Finance class when the co-owner of VooDoo Doughnuts made his presentation. More importantly, I wanted you to know how impressed I was with the teaching style you exhibited before the presentation began. You interacted and sought feedback from the students regarding your schedule and I felt the students were comfortable having dialogue with you on the topic. I caught myself, more than once, reminiscing about my own college experience and I don't recall a professor ever asking my opinion regarding the layout of a class or schedule. In your case, I believe the students felt valued by being included.

Additionally, I have always admired your passion, especially regarding marketing and entrepreneurship. Thanks for being a part of the team!

Thank you,

Luke Aldrich, PE
