ER Visit

Hi Professor Zehr,

I was in the emergency room Sunday and Monday because I hadn't been able to eat or drink over the weekend at all, and I needed to see what was wrong with me! The doctors said I had a very extreme case of a peritonsillar abscess that was blocking about three-quarters of my throat and could have caused suffocation eventually, so they had to take care of that! ...

This class has been the most interesting class I've taken at either Montana State or EOU, and I'm sad that I've been working at Dutch Bros so much this term that I haven't put in as much effort into this course as I should have, especially in terms of discussions. I just wanted to apologize for that because I know that with such a small class size, my waiting until the last minute to complete discussion posts hasn't helped the community of the class at all. My dad is a professor at BMCC and he complains about students like me who procrastinate discussions, so I wanted to sincerely apologize for that because I know it's not helpful at all for me or the class.
