Hello Wilson,

I wanted to thank you again for your and your student's partnering with Regional Solutions, Business Oregon, and DEQ on projects to advance region priorities. One of the issues we struggle with when working on economic and community development opportunities is capacity, at the state and local level, to fully understand and mobilize resources for projects that create jobs and stable communities. Your classes' assistance in researching, assessing, and identifying pathways to overcome challenges and taking advantage of opportunities is a significant asset to the region and much appreciated. Thanks again and I look forward to future opportunities to work with you.
